27th August 2013

Dear Jude,

Thank you for your email of 23rd August.

In it you say I do not refer to the invitation to be 'part of the community meeting' in my letter to you.

Please note I sent my letter at 11:09 on the 23rd August and your invitation was sent by Claudia Merhej at 18:02 on the 23rd August - it would therefore be impossible to refer to the invitation given that it was sent by you 7 hours after my letter.

As you are very aware, we have on numerous occasions made the request to see, and be part of, the details of the workshop idea you had first suggested to us at the meeting held at your offices on the 4th of July. You have failed to provide any information on said workshop as requested in our previous letters, and you have constantly changed to parameters, capacity and objectives of this event without once involving or consulting us.

The Southbank Centre have refused to honour our conditional request and, given that there is no immediate rush, and given that we are in ongoing dialogue with you, we are very disappointed that you have decided to plough ahead and host a community meeting at which, by your doing, we will have no feature or presence.

We look forward to receiving the financial documents pertaining to the Festival Wing ahead of any consultation event.

Kind regards,
